SAUNDERS, Sept. 25—P. M.

A careful review of the commercial situation for the week ending with today compels the acknowledgment that it fails to present features of an encouraging nature. A "dry goods reporter" remarks: "It is now conceded that the business this autumn will be much lighter than last year."

an unexpected revival of trade will seriously interfere with any attempted combinations. The idiosyncrasies of speculation are, perhaps, well illustrated by the movement of Lake Shore during the past week, and by its closing at 1 1/4 per cent higher than on last Saturday, while Michigan Central of the same time declined 1 1/2 per cent.

The stock market to-day has been fairly active, although the sales are only aggregated 125,000 shares, the advance in shares has been the chief feature. The opening price was at 3 1/4, from which it quickly advanced to 3 1/2, and then, after selling again at 3 1/4, it remained for some time steady at 3 1/2.
